A Tropical Escape

Who needs a white Christmas when Miami Beach offers a white-hot holiday? Bursting with culture and activity, this sultry city is perfect for families seeking a sunny escape. Beach babes will love Miami's miles of sandy shoreline and warm aquamarine water. But those in need of a Christmas fix can head to Santa's Enchanted Forest, one of the world's largest Christmas theme parks and carnivals, where, through January, kids can enjoy rides and tons of games, as well as a 92-foot tree and the jolly man himself.

Christmas in the Big Apple

FROM THE ROCKETTES at Radio City to the giant tree at Rockefeller Center, Manhattan offers a miraculous holiday experience—on 34th Street and beyond. If shopping is at the top of your to-do list, Macy's, Saks, Bloomingdale's and Lord & Taylor offer floors of choices and extravagant window displays filled with enough sparkle to get you in the yuletide spirit. Kids will love the Toyland theme in FAO Schwarz's window and be awestruck by the treasures inside. For crafts and one-of-a-kind gifts, visit the markets inside the cavernous Grand Central Terminal and lovely Union Square Park. And to please hard-to-buy-for hipsters, head to the Young Designers Market in SoLo, for amazing pieces on the cheap. With twinkling lights everywhere, the city itself becomes
